Overview

F.FRI is a non-profit organization established in 2015 by Cav. Alberto Masotti with the ambition of representing a meeting and exchange ground between entrepreneurs, professionals and young talents, aimed at triggering a virtuous process in support of the supply chain and the community. The headquarters in Bologna, now available for rent, constitutes an important example of industrial and urban regeneration in the heart of the Emilia Romagna Fashion Valley.

Sustainability

FFRI's 7,000 square meters are built with modern technologies aimed at reducing environmental impact. Starting with the cladding of the buildings in Krypton Solid Surface, a completely recyclable ceramic material that emphasizes the bond with one of Emilia-Romagna's major productions, and the domotic LED lighting system with which all the buildings are equipped. A virtuous circle of resource reuse makes it possible to meet the hub's energy needs, which are partly guaranteed by a photovoltaic system on the roof. Air exchange is provided by means of a modern ventilation system with thermal energy recovery, with which domestic hot water is produced. A cistern for rainwater allows irrigation of the green areas
