

Trattoria La Finestrella

Overview

The small window on Via Piella is one of Bologna's hidden gems, located along a side street parallel to Via Indipendenza. Overlooking the Canale delle Moline, it was reopened in 1998 and has since attracted tourists and couples, earning the nickname "Little Venice."

The menu celebrates traditional Bolognese cuisine, with handmade pasta dishes such as lasagna, tortellini, tortelloni and tagliatelle. Main courses range from crescentine with cured meats to boiled meats, osso buco, Bolognese-style veal cutlet and grilled meats. To finish, classic desserts including zuppa inglese and rice cake.
